ABSTRACT

The Guide to Materials for Reading Instruction, 1971 Edition, updates earlier editions and includes approximately 2,300 entries of materials from 114 publishers. The guide is intended to keep educators informed about the constantly increasing supply of new materials available for the teaching of reading. Items appearing in the guide are described through a classification process; however, no evaluative judgments are made. Entries are organized by publishers in alphabetical order. The classification system includes the following: (1) the two major categories of basal or nonbasal; (2) the type of item, e.g., reader, workbook, audio aid; (3) reading difficulty level; (4) interest level; (5) setting of stories; (6) general skills developed; and (7) type of cover and binding. Three specialized indexes which provide easy access to information by sorting it into 240 subcategories are included. The indexes are titled "Interest Level Subdivided by Grade Level," "Skill Subdivided by Grade Level," and "Skill Subdivided by Interest Level." Finally, complete addresses for the contributing publishers are listed. (DH)

INFORMATION ON THE ERIC SYSTEM

ERIC

ERIC is a decentralized, national information system which acquires, abstracts, indexes, stores, retrieves, analyzes, and disseminates significant and timely educational information. ERIC's full name is the Educational Resources Information Center, and it is funded through the Bureau of Research, USOE. ERIC was founded to reduce limitations in the identification, transfer, and use of educational information. In short, the major goal of ERIC is to enable school administrators, teachers, researchers, information specialists, professional organizations, graduate and undergraduate students, and the general public to keep up-to-date on research and research-related knowledge in education. ERIC accomplishes this through strengthening existing educational information services and providing additional ones.

ERIC/CRIER

The ERIC Clearinghouse on Retrieval of Information and Evaluation on Reading (ERIC/CRIER) is one of the 20 clearinghouses in the ERIC system. ERIC/CRIER is located at Indiana University and is a joint project of the International Reading Association and the University in cooperation with USOE. Each of the clearinghouses in the ERIC system operates within a specific area of education defined in its "scope" note. ERIC/CRIER's domain of operation includes:

> ...research reports, materials and information related to all aspects of reading behavior with emphasis on the physiology, psychology, sociology, and teaching of reading. Included are reports on the development and evaluation of instructional materials, curricula, tests and measurements, preparation of reading teachers and specialists, and methodology at all levels; the role of libraries and other agencies in fostering and guiding reading; and diagnostic and remedial services in school and clinic settings.

INTRODUCTION

Description of the Guide

The Guide to Materials for Reading Instruction is part of a planned series of Guides to Information Sources in Reading which are designed to acquaint people with the wealth of materials for teaching, testing, researching, and generally surveying the field of reading.

The 1971 Guide updates in one volume the first edition of the Guide and Supplement I by entering new materials of contributing publishers, by adding the products of 15 new participating publishers, and by deleting materials no longer published.

Purpose of the Guide

The wealth of materials available for the teaching of reading is constantly being enriched. Educators find it increasingly difficult to keep informed about materials and therefore frequently miss the opportunity to consider new media and programs. The Guide is designed to serve as a vehicle which will meet this expressed need.

The user is provided with a comprehensive list of alternative materials to meet a given instructional need. The Guide is not designed to make the final decision in selecting materials but is rather to facilitate the listing of alternative materials during the early stages of the materials selection process.

While users should not attempt to order items based solely on the information in the Guide, the size and scope of this volume facilitate an extensive search of what is available. Included to assist the user of the 1971 Guide are three computer-generated indexes that allow entry to the Guide along the dimensions of Interest-Grade Level, Skill-Grade Level, and Skill-Interest Level. The use of these specialized indexes is explained more fully in the section titled "Organization and Use of the Guide."

Items appearing in the Guide have been described through a classification process; however, no evaluative judgments have been made. This important step in the selection and adoption of materials is rightfully the province of the user. Only by studying local needs and conditions can appropriate judgments be made. It is important to note that wherever possible, the publisher's descriptive literature has been used in classifying items. For example, items classified as "Basal Materials" may vary somewhat, depending on each publisher's definition of the term basal.

Sources of Information

The Guide to Materials for Reading Instruction is based on first-hand study of materials which were supplied by 78 publishers. Publishers were contacted initially and asked to join the ERIC/CRIER Task Force on Instructional Materials. Some publishers felt their materials did not fit the stated criteria; a few chose not to join the Task Force.

The original Guide to Materials for Reading Instruction and the Supplement have become partially outdated because of the enormous amount of materials continually being prepared for reading instruction. Publishers were asked to continually supply ERIC/CRIER with samples of their latest products. Some publishers who did not participate in the development of the original Guide subsequently joined the Task Force and contributed materials to be classified. In the 1971 edition, 114 publishers participated.

The Future of the Guide

The number of materials listed and the number of participating publishers have shown a steady growth since the first edition of the Guide was published. In the 1968 Guide, 78 companies were represented with approximately 1,480 entries. In the 1971 edition of the Guide, 114 companies account for the approximately 2,300 entries (excluding entries for teachers' editions, manuals, etc.). This is an increase of approximately 35 percent over the entries in the 1968 Guide.

Provided that funds permit such an undertaking, a regular updating of the Guide to Materials for Reading Instruction is planned. Eventually the computer storage and retrieval of information on instructional materials for reading is planned. The computer-generated indexes in this edition are a step in that direction. Such a development would permit manipulation of the collection in a variety of ways. For example, a guide to readiness materials could be provided or a search conducted for all materials with an adjustment in reading difficulty.

Users of the Guide are urged to provide reactions and suggestions so that future editions can be improved. Publishers not represented in this volume are encouraged to participate and may contact ERIC/CRIER directly for instructions.

ORGANIZATION AND USE OF THE GUIDE

Key to Organization

Entries in the Guide are organized by publisher; publishers appear in alphabetical order. Materials are divided into two major categories for each publisher: Basal and Nonbasal.

Basal programs in the Guide are organized into a developmental sequence beginning with readiness material and proceeding through the various reading levels. Some publishers produce materials which are designed for use with the basal program but are not tied directly to specific reading levels. These materials appear in the basal section, but they are listed after the basal program itself.

Nonbasal materials are organized by type and within the type classification by grade level.

The Classification System

Seven basic decision were made about each item in the Guide:

1. Does the publisher advertise this item as part of a basal program? (Alternatives: Basal, Nonbasal)
2. What type of item is it? (Alternatives: Reader, Workbook, Supplementary Reader, Enrichment Reader, Audio-Visual Aid, Visual Aid, Audio Aid, Teacher Resource, Boxed Developmental Materials, Teaching Machine or Device)
3. What is the reading difficulty level of the item? (Alternatives: K through Adult)
4. What is the interest level of the item? (Alternatives: Primary, Intermediate, Junior High, Senior High, College, Adult)
5. What is the setting of stories contained in the item? (Alternatives: Local Environment, Urban Setting, Literary, Other)
6. What general skills does the item develop? (Alternatives: Readiness, Word Recognition-Vocabulary, Study Skills, Comprehension, Interests and Taste, Reading in the Content Fields)
7. What kind of cover and binding does the item have? (Alternatives: Hard Cover, Paperback)

The following sample illustrates the use of the classification criteria:

Level 4, Helicopters and Gingerbread. Reader; Grade 1; Primary; Literary; Readiness, Word recognition-vocabulary, Comprehension; Hard Cover, 1969

The following descriptions indicate in more detail the meaning of each label:

Type of Program

Basal: Materials providing an instructional sequence from beginning reading usually to grade six or beyond. Emphasis is on control of vocabulary and development and reinforcement of reading skills through a unified approach. The various supportive materials produced by basal publishers and used with basal programs are also included as basal materials.

Nonbasal: All materials other than basal, including some basic reading programs which are more limited in scope than the comprehensive basal sequences.

Type of Material

Reader: Material containing stories and articles designed to build comprehension from directed reading. These materials often lend themselves to group use in class, and in every case included learner aids of some sort. Trade books, though often used in reading instruction, were not included as "readers" unless they included study guides, a definite vocabulary unit, or some definite instructional aids.

Workbook: Expendable soft cover materials which provide the opportunity for a written response by pupils. Ditto masters and desk-work materials not fitting into other categories were given this designation.

Supplementary reader: Readers with a clear orientation to corrective or remedial work. Classics rewritten with simplified vocabulary, high interest, low difficulty anthologies, and texts for reading disability students were considered supplementary readers. Note that this stipulated usage excludes materials often used to supplement a basal program. Such tradebooks and readers were classified as "enrichment readers" (see next category).

Enrichment reader: Readers and texts designed to be used as extensions of a basal program. Materials intended, or primarily used for extra practice, for reinforcement, and for capable students were placed in this category.

Audio-visual aid: A learning (or teaching) aid that involves both auditory and visual reception of response. Movies and talking filmstrips would be examples.

Visual aid: A learning (or teaching) aid predominantly effective through the sense of vision. Conventional printed pages of books were excluded. Wall charts, filmstrips, and posters are examples.

Audio aid: A learning (or teaching) aid predominantly effective through the sense of hearing. Tapes and records are examples.

Teacher resource: Materials directed to a teacher audience and designed to facilitate the use of instructional materials. Teacher editions, manuals, and guides are examples. College texts designed for use in teacher-preparation programs are not included in this listing.

Boxed developmental materials: Instructional games, boxed laboratories, and skill development kits were included in this category.

Teaching machine or device: A mechanical or electrically run apparatus for developing reading skills.

Grade Level

Reading difficulty: Either a central grade level or a range of levels was assigned each item, according to the level of difficulty indicated by publisher or according to the apparent level or use appropriate to the material. In some cases a grade level was assigned even though the material was not strictly a text to be read, as in the case of wall charts.

Interest level: Interest levels were assigned at the same level or range of levels as reading difficulty unless publishers specifically indicated that a difference was intended. Primary refers to grades 1-3; Intermediate, 4-6; Junior High School, 7-9; Senior High School, 10-12; College, 13-16; Adult. The last category includes any material addressed specifically to adults (such as teacher's manuals and adult basic literacy materials).

Setting of Material (applies only to basal program)

Local environment: Materials concerned mostly with home and neighborhood settings; stories in this category include a wide variety of themes and settings, as some basal readers mix urban with rural, make-believe with realism. Illustrations are usually of family and home scenes.

Urban setting: Materials designed particularly for use with urban children, with the disadvantaged (rural or urban), and/or with multi-ethnic groups. Illustrations typically depict large city scenes.

Literary: Materials largely devoted to fanciful tales, poetry, and classics in child or adult literature. The main characters are often animals.

Skills Development

Readiness: Material designed to promote reading readiness primarily in kindergarten and first grade. Motivational and developmental materials as well as material that builds background were labeled readiness at other grade levels.

Word recognition-vocabulary: Material instructing or reinforcing (drilling) word attack skills, sight word recognition, vocabulary development.

Study skills: Material including instruction in such skills as outlining, study habits, reviewing and memory techniques, flexibility of reading purposes and approach, etc.

Comprehension: This category was assigned only if specific study or discussion questions were included to aid comprehension.

Interests and taste: Material which especially lends itself to the broadening or refinement of student interests and taste in reading.

Reading in the content fields: Materials giving instruction or practice in the skills necessary for meeting the specific reading demands of various school subject areas.

All skills: Materials which are designed to develop more than three of the above skills.

Type of Binding

Hard Cover: Limited to book-type materials having stiff bindings and inflexible covers.

Soft Cover: Booklet type materials with sewn staples bindings and flexible covers.

USE OF THE INDEXES

In addition to the publisher's index, three specialized indexes are included. The purpose of the specialized indexes is to provide easy access to information contained in the Guide. This is achieved by sorting entries across levels of two of the three major dimensions: interest, grade level (reading difficulty), and skills. The indexes sort the contents of the Guide into 240 categories, each identified along two dimensions.

Index I is labeled "Interest Level Subdivided by Grade Level." This means that each of the six interest levels--primary, intermediate, junior high, senior high, adult, and college--is subdivided into the 17 grade levels spanning the preschool level through adult level. An actual illustration will help to clarify the use of the index.

> Assume that a high school reading teacher wishes to select materials of a high school interest level with a sixth grade reading difficulty level. The user would turn to the section in Index I labeled Senior High School Level. He would next proceed down the page to Grade 6. The numbers following Grade 6 indicate page numbers on which the user will find listed instructional reading materials of a senior high school interest level and a sixth grade reading difficulty level.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL LEVEL

Grade 6: 14, 18, 30, 36, 37, 39, 45, 46, 48, 56, 59, 73, 84, 85, 87, 103, 113-115, 124, 125, 128, 134, 137, 138, 144, 146, 154, 158, 159

> It is important to note that the user will need to skim the entire page given, for it may present more than one appropriate entry.

Index II is labeled "Skill Subdivided by Grade Level." The six general skill areas--readiness, word recognition-vocabulary, study skills, comprehension, interests and taste, and reading in the content fields--are subdivided by grade levels. This allows the user to match skills with the desired grade level. If a material is designed to develop more than three skills, it is listed only under a seventh subdivision, "All Skills."

> Assume that the high school reading teacher is specifically concerned with comprehension skills and wishes to hold reading difficulty at the sixth grade level. He would turn to the section labeled Comprehension in Index II. He would next go down the page to Grade 6. The numbers printed to the right of Grade 6 are pages on which the user will find listed materials teaching comprehension skills with sixth grade reading difficulty.

COMPREHENSION

Grade 6: 2, 10, 18, 21, 25, 32, 36, 44, 46, 48, 49, 73, 74, 84, 92-94, 98, 103, 115, 119, 132-134, 137, 138, 144

The third index is entitled "Skill Subdivided by Interest Level." In this index the six skill areas are subdivided by the six interest levels. The "All Skill" (3 or more) area is also subdivided.

> Assume that a high school reading teacher wanted a listing of all materials covering comprehension skills but of a high school interest level. He would turn to Index III to the section labeled Comprehension and proceed down the page to the entry Senior High School. The numbers indicate pages in the Guide on which are listed materials teaching comprehension skills and of a high school interest level.

COMPREHENSION

Senior High School: 6, 18-20, 27, 32, 36, 45, 46, 49, 50, 52, 56, 57, 72, 73, 77, 78, 84, 93, 94, 103, 111, 117-121, 123, 124, 126, 129, 134, 137, 138, 144, 154

A further refinement in the sorting process can be achieved by using the entries from Index I and Index II which have in common a given dimension. To illustrate this technique, the two previously cited examples are listed below. Grade 6 is the element held in common by both examples. By selecting those page numbers which are common to both examples, we have further limited our selection to those materials of a high school interest level, a reading difficulty level of grade 6, and those materials focusing on comprehension skills.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL LEVEL

Grade 6: 14, 18, 30, 36, 37, 39, 45, 46, 48, 56, 59, 73, 84, 85, 87, 103, 113-115, 124, 125, 128, 134, 137, 138, 144, 146, 154, 158, 159

COMPREHENSION

By cross comparison between Indexes I and II we have limited our search to materials listed on the following pages: 18, 36, 46, 48, 73, 84, 103, 115, 134, 137, 138, 144. By searching only those pages in common to both examples, we have reduced the number of pages to be searched by 35. This represents a reduction of 75 percent.

The reader is reminded that the purpose of the Guide is not to make materials selection decisions for him. The purpose of the Guide is to allow the user to conveniently assemble a comprehensive list of instructional reading materials. Once such a listing is assembled, the user may apply selection criteria relevant to a given local situation.
